

Design Challenge - Low-Cost Water Treatment

Chemical engineers are known as 'universal engineers'. They transform raw materials into useful products on large, industrial manufacturing scale, aiming to get the best results at the least cost and